From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Every Friday night a bunch of us fellows get together over at Bill Webster's place. We wouldn't miss those weekly get-togethers for anything.

There are seven in the group—Bill Webster, Judge Cunningham, Pete Swanson, Old Doc McGinnis, the dentist, and young Doc Mitchell, the M.D., the government man and Bob Newcomb, and myself.

We don't play cards. We don't sing or carry on. We just sit quietly and talk—and drink a glass or two of beer.

I guess we discuss just about everything under the sun—politics, business, family affairs, music, farming, hunting, fishing, and what not.

But mostly we like to chew the fat about life's experience and a man's philosophy in these times.

To sort of help out the conversation, we've found molasses beer particularly relaxing. Every one of us likes the tangy taste of beer... and now and then Judge Cunningham insists on ale for everybody.

You mightn't think that just sitting and talking would be so much fun. But it is. Particularly when a man begins to get around to the age of reason. Like us.

And it's wonderful how a few glasses of good beer help bring out good talk and good sense when men get together. There's something peaceful and friendly and human about beer that brings out the best in a man.

They call beer the "beverage of moderation." That "moderation" idea is good philosophy... maybe that's why good beer and good fellowship go together so well.

Anyhow, men ought to get together and be friends. That's the way we were made. Why not try it more often—all of you?

PARATROOPS BOAST FIRST JUMPING CHAPLAIN

CHAPLAIN RAYMOND S. HALL

Paratroop troops at the In-Stock training course, the Infantry School, Fort Benning, found it rough going. It had been Georgia, host of a literal "sky more than ten years since Chaplain." He is Chaplain Raymond S. Hall, former rector of St. John's University swimming team and a member of the All-American swimmers, and life in the rector had not prepared him for the enthusiastic body-bending a paratrooper must perform in training.

Today, as a qualified paratrooper, he looks forward to each jump with zest. He also speaks with most satisfaction of the men's reaction to his jumping. "It is interesting to the men being applied for creased attendance at church," permission to take the grilling he says.

Farmers Collecting Scrap Materials

Richmond, Va., April 22. Scrap collections from Virginia farms have totaled approximately 80,000,000 pounds during the past few months.

This was announced by C. H. Leitch, executive secretary of the Virginia State Salvage Committee, as plans were pressed for collecting 70,000,000 pounds of waste which is estimated still remains on farms throughout the State.

Letters will be mailed in the near future to 175,000 Virginia farmers, asking them to cooperate in the "Salvage-for-Victory" program by gathering up waste materials on their farms and in their homes. The WPA will send trucks to the homes of those who agree to cooperate, and the waste materials will then be sold by the Government at scrap dealers in nearby towns. Farmers may donate their waste to the Government if they wish, but if they do payment they will receive it.

What should the farmer collect? Well, this is a special drive for the collection of scrap iron and rubber. Scrap dealers who buy them will send them to mills and factories where they are needed.

The United States Department of Agriculture county war boards have been active for months in adding the salvage program on Virginia farms, and they have been cooperating with the State Salvage Committee since its organization.
